During World War II, the strongest fortification in Northern Europe was erected in Hanstholm as part of Hitler's Atlantic Wall. Museum inspector Jens Andersen will guide us through the past with his stories about life in the bunkers 60 years ago. We are going to see the enormous cannons, which could shoot halfway to Norway, parts of shut down airplanes and the completely intact and still fully furnished bunkers that the 3000-man garrison lived in during the war. The actual museum building contains a unique collection of uniforms and war materials. Transport in own cars, take your neighbour!

Fish auction at Hanstholm Harbour * Thursday at 6.30 AM – 10 AM

If you are a morning person, you have the chance to experience a piece of everyday life at Northern Europe's largest fishery harbour for edible fish, Hanstholm Harbour. This is the place where the most and the largest edible fish are brought in.

When the fishing vessels come into port in the early morning hours, the fish are taken to the collection centre, where they are sorted according to size and weight. Then, they are transported to the auction. The auctioneer dictates the events, and the fish buyers who will pay the most for the catches get to take them home.

The auction includes everything from lobsters to sharks and from haddocks to coalfish. You might want to drive by the smokehouse Det Gamle Røgeri if you have developed a craving for fresh or smoked fish. The smokehouse is on Kuttervej two minutes from the auction house.

Meeting place: on the parking lot in front of the reception at 6.30 AM
